We Make It Happen

(1) Three snow storms blanketed Decatur in December and January closing school for five days. A record breaking 13.7 inches of snow was dumped on the county in one day, the most since 1915. Jeannie Girard and Terry Colter romp in the freshly fallen snow shortly after an unexpected early dismissal for Christmas.

(2) Capturing their first sectional crown since 1971, Bellmont this year claimed its second championship. Students get a day off from school to parade through town for a victory celebration.

(3) Pat Briede wrestling at 132 pounds and David O'Campo at 112 pounds won individual titles in the regional tourney at F.W. North Side High School February 16. The first regional title for a Bellmonter was in 1969. Pat and Feachy get an enthusiastic send-off to Southport High School in Indianapolis for the state wrestling match.

(4) Disaster struck April 3 when a series of twisters, the worst in nine years, hit Adams County. The sheriff's report, excluding Decatur, of damage done to the county amounted to $748,000. School was not in session at damaged Bellmont High School for two days while teachers, students, and other personnel cleaned up the debris.

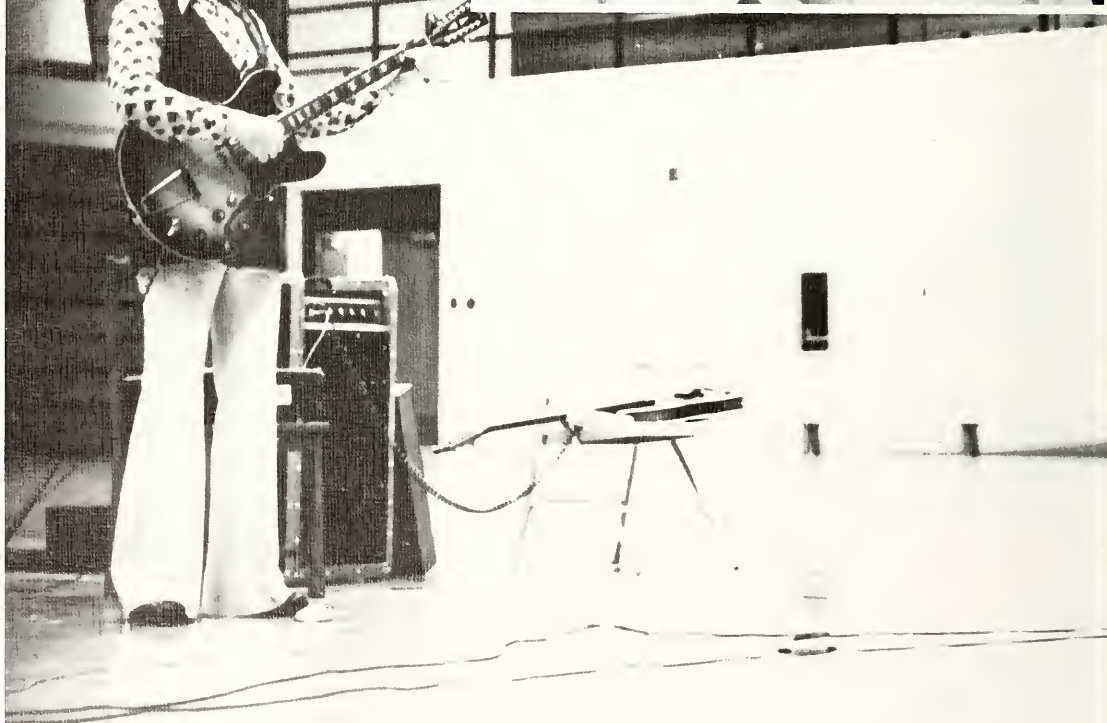

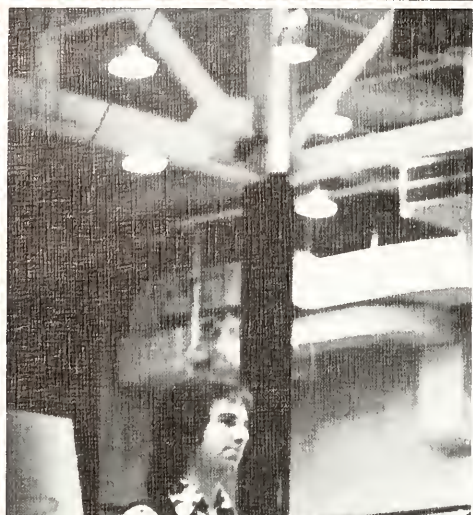

(5) Mr. Al Harants, Mrs. Jan Heimann, Dave DeLong, and Athena Price are astonished by the synchronized movement they are to copy from Chuck Bisset as he explained about his fictitious story to Europe. Holding the microphone so the other five can be heard is bewildered Paul Schultz.

(6) Really swingin' to the tune of "Rock Around the Clock" are part of the cast members of the annual Pops Concert as they bring out the past and present.

Getting together

(1) School gets kinda' boring, and the assemblies break up the monotony of the day—

Linda Andrews

(2) I thought the trip to Washington D.C. was fun, but there was too much to see in only one day—Sharee Davis

(3) I think having floats is more than for a showing of decorations; it's getting along with others and understanding other peoples' thoughts and opinions—Sally Buckner

(4) Everybody likes to be in style, but yet be different; I like to be in fashion, so I dress in what the style is—Laurie DeLong

(5) There has to be a mutual feeling toward each other in a group, and when you get together you have a good time—Eric Riesen

The power of a million new ideas ...

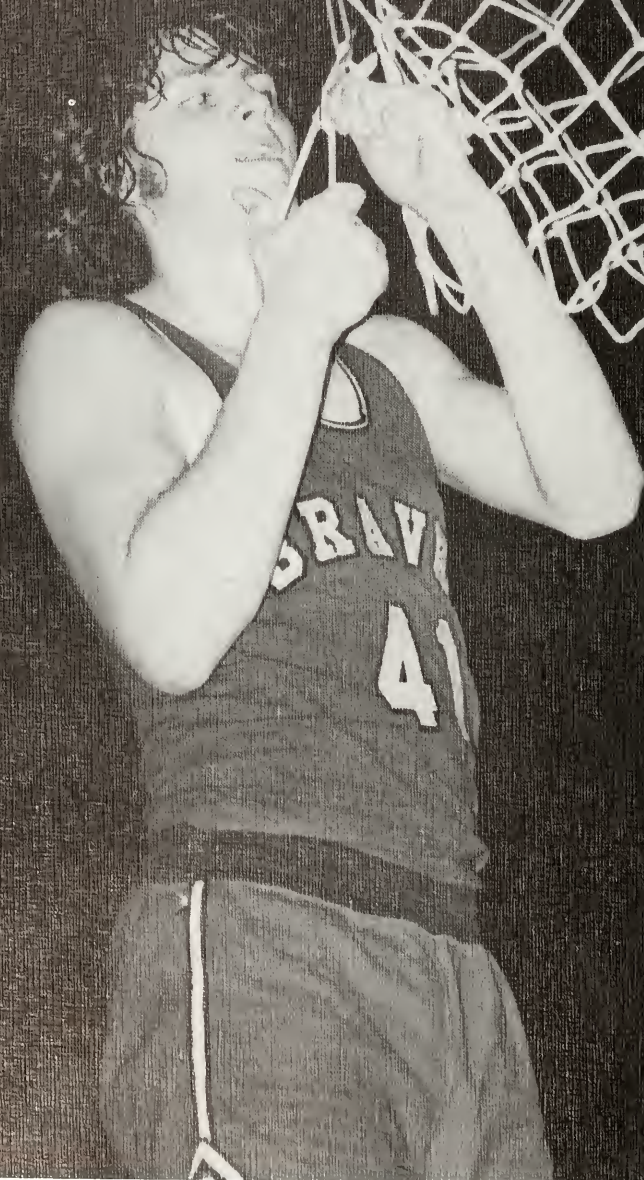

I liked the sock hop because we had to dress up, and it made me feel like I was right there in the 50's. I felt kinda carefree like they were back then—Dot Eichhorn

I think it would be fun to be an exchange student, but I would be afraid of not being able to communicate because of the different language and learning to adjust to new surroundings

The Influence

(1) Taking his turn snipping the victory net, Ron Oetting savors the climax of hard work and past defeats looking forward to games unplayed.

(2) Ecstasy mingled with tears registers with Rhonda Miller as she shakily accepts the crown mandated to her at the Silver Arrow Coronation.

(3) On the brink of physical exhaustion and drenched from an icy late autumn downpour, Band director Mr. Larry Shaffer hears completion of his course around the school. He promised the Band he would run five miles if they didn't place in the top 15 at Ball State Band Day.

(4) Pursued by Heritage Patriots, Jeff Luginbill scrambles for yardage.

(5) Mrs. Jane Schauss illustrates to Joan Livingston and Jackie Fawbush the essence of striving to perfect each achievement finding hope in a greater beyond. Living in a sheltered world will yield mediocrity; there's a Jonathon Livingston Seagull in each of us, struggling for knowledge.

1. Two sharing, losing themselves in each other discover the meaning of love where all problems seem illusory. Dave Meyers and Kathy McDonald find their escape on a crisp autumn afternoon. 2. Laurie and Heather Hebble cherish the comradeship of rider and mount. In their mutual bond where neither is master or mastered, they share the freedom to ride away from the confines of space and time. 3. Shying away from the callousness of the crowd, Nancy Niblick finally finds solace as she struggles with everyday problems. 4. Feel the wind gently whipping across the face while caressing and playfully toying with long flowing hair. There will be time to deal with aching muscles (Think how much gas I'm saving!) tomorrow. Today Ducatur's new bicycle route calls Rhonda Miller, Shelly Roth, Cynthy Bleeke, Lynn Callow, and Billy J. Callow to delight in a restful autumn retreat.

ESCAPE

With such a busy world it's always nice to be able to sit down with my stereo on and relax. I need time to organize my thoughts, to think of my future, and also my past.

—Deb Sprunger, senior

I like to read because I like to get wrapped up in a story—sort of an escape and being exposed to new ideas. I like to write just for the heck of it; I guess I always feel better after I have written down my ideas.

—Wendy Schrock, senior

When I get mad I take off on my bike and it helps to relieve my tensions.

—Karen Darling, senior

I like to play the organ, especially when I'm mad. I'll take out my frustrations on it and play for a long time.

—Ruth Miller, junior

The Story

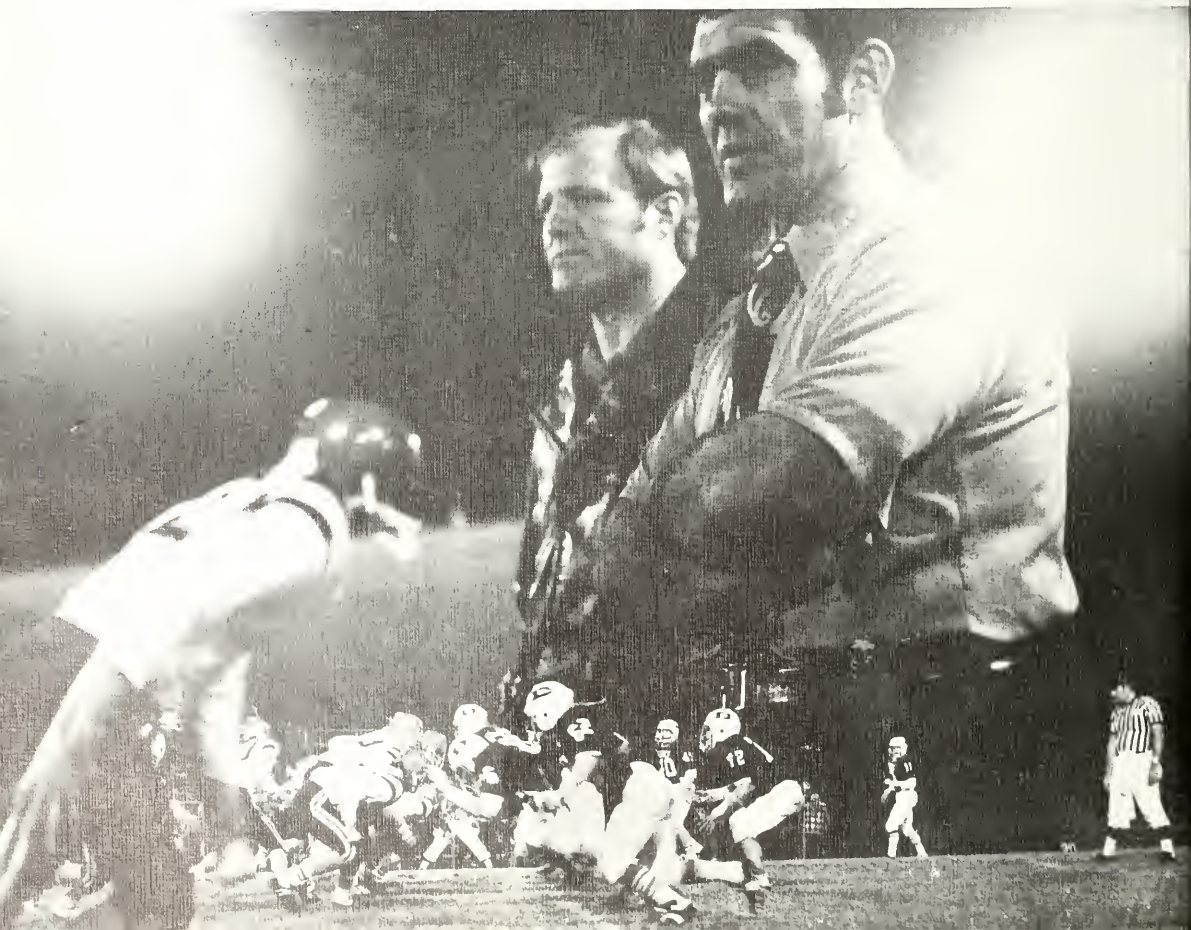

*'To win an overtime game . . .
was very satisfying'--- Harants*

Posting a .500 season, the Braves ended with two wins over Bluffton. The Braves beat Bluffton during the regular season with Jay Arnold, senior fullback, scoring a touchdown in the first overtime in the school's history on a six yard run.

In the NEIC playoffs, the gridders beat the Tigers once more when Arnold was again the star as he rushed for 194 yards. Concordia triumphed over BHS county rival South Adams for the NEIC championship.

Luke Leitz, junior place kicker, and Mike Hoopingartner, junior defensive back, were named to the NEIC elite. Leitz was named to the all-conference squad while Hoopingartner was named to the second team. Tim Brazill, junior halfback, was the leading scorer for the Braves and the county.

The junior varsity squad posted a 3-2-1 season while the freshmen recorded a .500 season with a record of 3-3.

Far top: Jon Fett, freshman, strives for a first down around end.

Below right: Deb Harrison, senior, warms up for timings in calculating machines, a new business course.

Emphasizing exploratory teaching with in-class experience, the FTA started the year with five participants. Mr. Larry Ritter, sponsor, explained,

'Members should know what it's like to be in front of a group.'

Early in the school year, 16 new sewing machines were added to the home economics department, and enrollment in this department called for adding another full-time faculty member bringing that number to three. Another first was boys taking advanced foods.

Also this fall, geology classes went to the Bluffton Stone quarry to see fossils, layers of rocks, and to examine the condition of the rocks.

Left: Using a gram scale, Bill Wernhoff and Terry Fuelling, seniors, show how a single force is resolved into component forces.

Winning the county and placing third in the bi-county meets highlighted the long cross-country season. Head coach Gary Busse led his squad to a somewhat disappointing season with a 6-8 record. Following a slow start, the Braves then placed sixth in the conference meet and eighteenth in the state meet.

Letterman Tim Grote stated,

'The conflict in getting a new coach was the reason for our slow start.'

Doug Bieberich, a member of the 500 mile club for the past two years, said, "Placing sixth in the conference was done without any seniors. That shows the experience for next year."

Above: Senior Mark Roeder, having almost finished the long two and half mile course, spots the finish line.

Below: Emerging through the woods is Doug Bieberich and Tim Grote, juniors.

Organizational activities hit its peak this fall with the arrival of new Band uniforms. Delay of shipment resulted from not knowing the number of incoming freshmen and because they were custom fit.

'New uniforms don't win contests; it's the people in them that do,'

said Mr. Larry Shaffer, Band director. However, the Band's spirit was affected by the new uniforms.

Other clubs were also busy sponsoring car washes, having sales, and initiating new members. The Pep Club had a new look this year as they sported navy blue sweaters and red jumpsuits.

Right: Checking off their lists, French Club members Janet Shoup, Ann Gaffer, and Deb Shook, seniors, select cartons of milk for Thanksgiving baskets to be given to Decatur's indigent people.

Above: Bart Starr, former Green Bay quarterback and featured speaker for the FCA-Key '73 banquet, elaborates on the meaning of true leadership.

First year coach Mark Young led his team to a 7-5 season.

With six strong lettermen returning next year, the tennis program should be powerful and post a winning season. Pacing the returnees will be Scot Odle, a three year veteran, who has the job of replacing senior captain Colin Johnson.

First year letterman Tom Hoopingarner stated,

'With our experience we are sure to be in the running for sectional and conference titles.'

Left: Keeping your eyes on the ball is very important in tennis; junior Chris Marbach does just that

Whether the activity called for making Halloween favors for teachers, or hosting a rifle match, organizations combined know-how and talent to fulfill their objectives.

Though they had no initiation, Sunshine Society members spread cheer to the faculty by creating monthly favors. They made the treats because,

*'It fills their day

said Judy Hamrick, senior, society president.

Junior Classical League raked leaves and sold pens and paper. The Speech Team hosted a meet December 2.

Left: "The table had been cleared in the great hall of the ancients . . ." stresses Kathy Knudsen, senior, as she practices her oratorical interpretation of Robert Libbot's "Why?" for the upcoming New Haven speech meet.

Brave Generation performed November 5 for the joint FCA-Key '73 banquet and for the Presbyterian Church dedication of the Christian Educational Unit.

National Honor Society members served as Open House guides while German Club wrapped Christmas gifts for the Mental Health Association.

'We're revising our constitution because it doesn't fit our needs,' stated German Club president Amy Brune, senior.

Fourth year students determined the revisions and initiated a scrapbook to be compiled by each program committee. Seven journalists were admitted into Quill and Scroll November 20.

For the past two years, the girls softball team posted a perfect record.

Coach, Mrs. Barbara Baker, explained

'Eighteen skilled and versatile girls made our record perfect'

In winning 11 in a row, the Squaws averaged 12.8 runs a game while limiting their opponents to 4.6.

Mrs. Baker commented that Anita Wagner led in both hitting and runs scored. In hits, she led with seven, and Lisa Isch followed with five.

Upper right: Janet Shoup, senior, backs off from a high and inside pitch.

Right: Ready to release the ball, Ruth Miller, junior, eyes the plate.

'The volleyball team is showing promise.'

Both varsity and reserve volleyball teams favored the win column as the A-team squaws posted 9 wins and 7 losses, and the reserve claimed 5 wins and 3 losses.

Betsy Hill, Bellmont's strongest server, averaged four points per game and was both an offensive and a defensive player. Betsy, a senior, was on the varsity roster for two years.

Right: Robin Watkins, Brenda Roop, Judy Cowans, Diane Serna, and Vicki Grant, juniors, were among the students in "The Meaning of Love," taught by Mrs. Jane Schauss, English chairman. "Mini-courses do mean more work for the teachers," she said, "with preparing for diversified classes. The English department went totally to mini-courses this year.

"To give the student more choice in what courses he is taking and to allow the student to take according to his interests," was the purpose of the mini-courses. Principal Hubert Zerkel felt that the "only thing that matters is how the students accept the new system."

Along with the school going to mini-courses, and the English department to phasing, a two-hour auto mechanics class was offered to second year students.

'Most teachers like the mini-courses,' stated Mrs. Jane Schauss, English chairman.

"We had been criticized for being repetitious in material," she concluded.

Left: The girls and boys physical education students joined first semester for square dancing. During fifth period Tom Shoup, sophomore, dances with junior Karlene Johnson, as Dennis Porter, sophomore, awaits the time he will team up with Nanette Kortenber, senior.

Right: Seniors on their first flight to Washington D.C. October 23, get a look at the Capitol dome.

Students witnessed quite an overhauling of the academic program as the social studies department offered 46 different mini-courses.

Although the science department added only three mini-courses, Mr. Robert Shoemaker, biology teacher, explained,

'In science you usually just scratch the surface in 9 weeks.'

Converting to 26 mini-courses was the fine art department with the exception of Band and Choir.

Keeping their curriculum intact from last year, the business area added 14 nine week classes including basic keyboard skills, contracts, and insurance.

Above: Marla Conrad, Karen Zander, and Cheryl Spangler, sophomores, work on an insect collection, a requirement of Biology.

*'Our third consecutive crowns, advancing two to the state . . .'
were our biggest feats. --- Kalver*

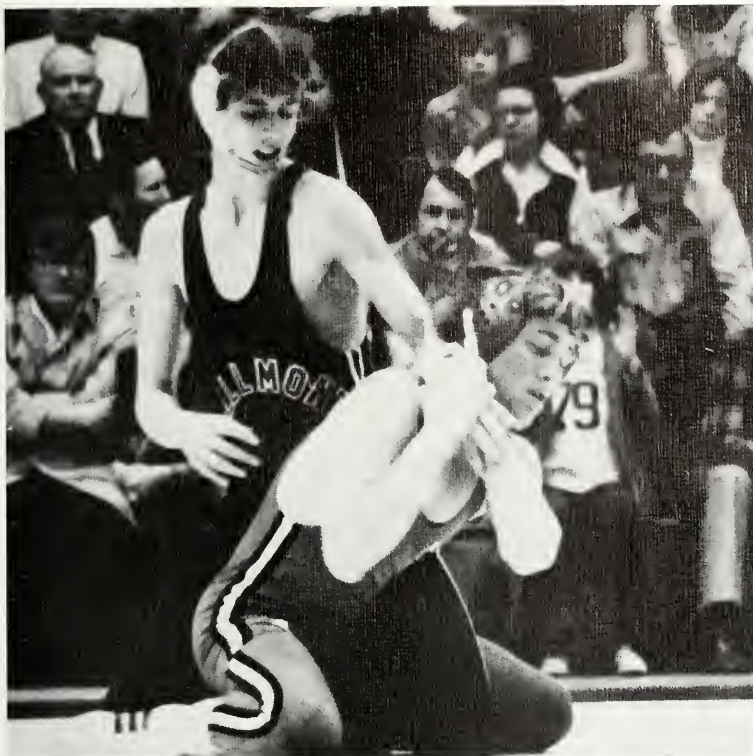

Bellmont added county foe Adams Central to their dual wrestling season this year. At the time of the match, the Flying Jets were without a loss, and the Braves had suffered their only defeat of the year. The matmen of BHS stunned the Jets with a 48-12 setback.

For the first time since 1969, the Braves sent a representative to the state meet at Southport High School of Indianapolis. Representing Decatur at the state tourney were Pat Briede, senior co-captain along with junior Vic Beer, and Dave O'Campo, junior.

Briede of the 135 weight class ended his season in the first round with a record of 22-3. O'Campo, a 115 pound wrestler, also bowed out in the first heat finishing his record 19-3.

Success of the team depends on the success of the person. According to Pat Briede, senior, "God, hard work, and a lot of sweat and effort . . ." contributed to his success. A state finalist, Briede said, "It was a great privilege to represent the Belmont wrestling team at the state tournament" this year.

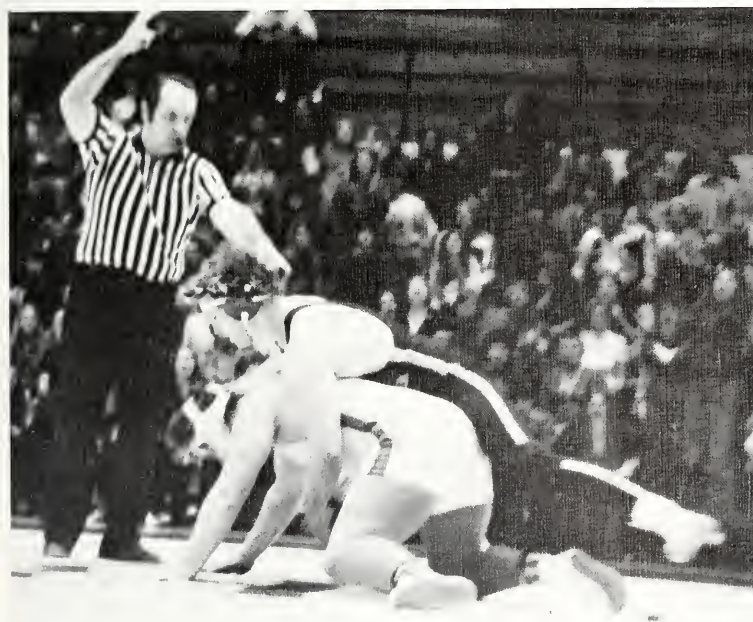

Far left: Dan Strickler, senior 180-pound grappler, wrestles to a tie with John O'Riordan of Wayne. The Braves won the match 34-16.

Left: Vic Beer adds another victim to his pin list as he wrestles with Ned Schultz of DeKalb. Beer had the most pins of the year with 18.

Below: Tim Zeser wrestles in the AC reserve tourney won by the Braves.

Far bottom: Regional champion, Pat Briede, competes in the state tourney.

Left: Heavyweight Dave DeLong scores a reversal on Roy Hill of Wayne. DeLong wrestled Hill again for the championship of the regional. DeLong lost both matches.

Above: Rick Rambo, junior 128 pounder, tries desperately to escape the grasp of an opponent. Rambo completed the season with a record of 12-8.

Having reached their peak about tourney time, the Braves completely dominated the Bluffton Sectional to walk away with the treasured crown and ended the season with a 12-12 record.

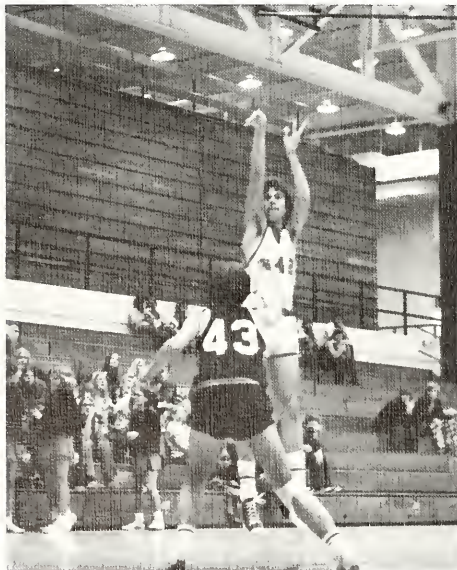

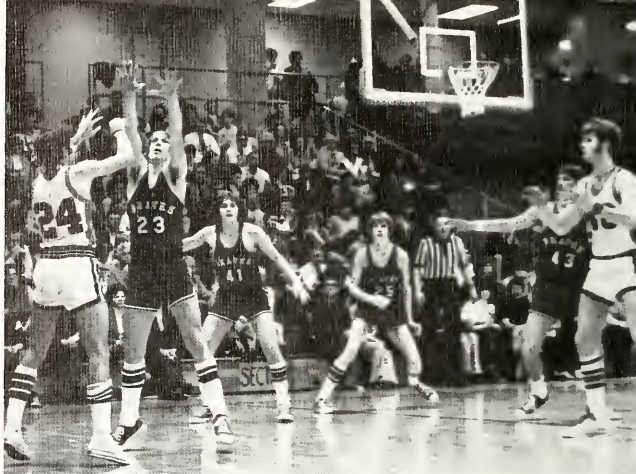

First year coaches Mr. Gary Miller and Mr. John Cate commented they both had *two goals for the year:

winning sectional and a 500 season;
both were achieved...*

Senior guard John Schauss was awarded a position on the all-conference first team and Ron Oetting, a senior forward, received honorable mention.

Playing a very competitive schedule, Coach Cate and his reserve squad recorded the best season in the school's history, 13 wins and 7 losses.

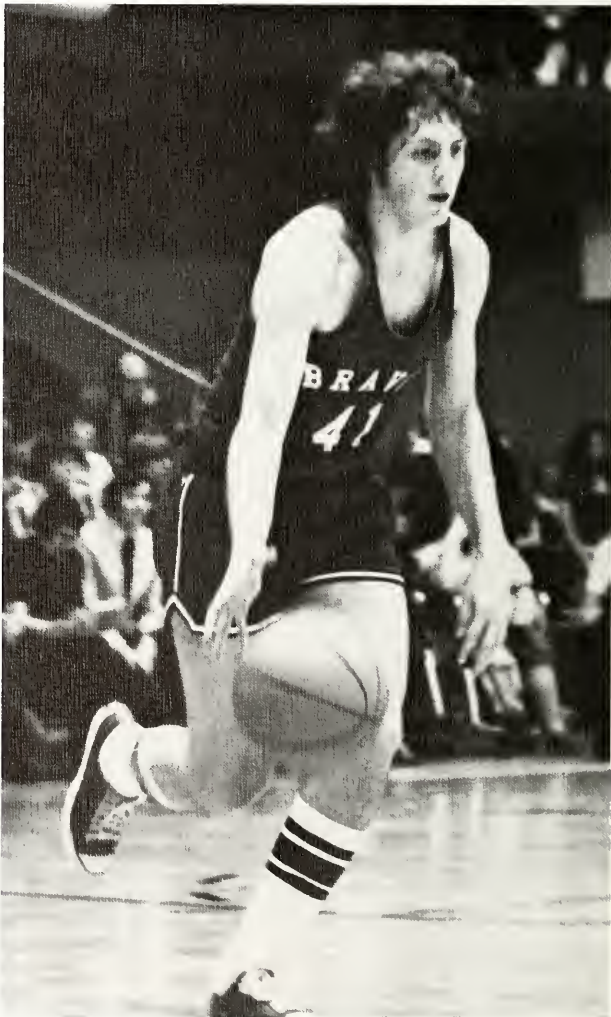

In fact, the new basketball program created winners of all Belmont teams as the freshmen went 14-2 under the direction of first year coach Mr. Gary Busse.

Top right: Keeping their eyes on the ball and their hands up, Belmont is in their tough 2-3 zone defense against Logansport.

Mrs. Phyllis Hebble, coach, said she respected this group of girls for their athletic abilities and that

'I'm expecting even more next year.'

Two girls, Anita Wagner and Mary Braun, earned varsity letters for the third year in a row for their participation on the girls basketball team.

Anita, center, averaged 15 points per game while Mary, who played guard, followed with an average of 12.

The reserve team posted a sub .500, with a record of two wins and three losses, while the varsity squaws topped with seven wins and three losses.

Above: Kris Smith, senior, lets go with a two hand set shot stunning her Heritage opponents.

Right: Because of shortages in low cost wood, woods and plastics students constructed only two barns and spent more time on small wood projects, according to Mr. Louis Hatke, teacher. Kevin Ripley, freshman, labors over a table.

"When you first use a new system, it takes time to evaluate it for its usefulness in your classes," said Mr. Robert Scheidler, Latin teacher.

For instance, Latin for Americans, a word study program including progress tests, was tried by Mr. Scheidler to relieve his work load, and because the textbook didn't have enough exercises.

'Tests are extensive, easier to grade' added Mr. Scheidler.

"The German book tests are insufficient, but I incorporate some of their points in my tests," stated Mr. Dennis Gaerte, instructor.

"I feel that it is good for students to get used to departmental tests," said Mr. Scheidler. "In the tests, students are quizzed not only on the language, but also on the culture," he concluded.

Top: Testing is always part of the end of semester activities. Cindy Freed, Mary Ann Miller, and Terri Knittle, freshmen, subject themselves to testing by Mr. Frank Wellman, math teacher.

At the beginning of the semester, Concert Choir learned new songs and dances for the Pop Concert that had as its theme "Those Were the Days."

Biology II classes set out by typing blood, making slides, and studying different gas exchange systems including the exchange of carbon dioxide for oxygen.

In addition, some business classes became mini-courses, but speedwriting was offered for the entire semester. Said Mrs. Alena Brock, referring to notehand,

'You hear sounds better because you have to write them.'

Family living classes kicked off the semester by making pies, and Home Economics I classes by studying posture.

Right: "We're number one!" Gymnasts Kendel Krueckeberg, Vickie Zeser, Kate DesJean, Nan Mankey, Janet Spangler, Nan Niblick, Nina Miller, and Valerie Painter look forward to Regional after a solid sectional victory.

'We encountered a lot of tough competition this year,' said Mrs. Barbara Baker. She went on to say, "Two of our meets were within two points; one of them which we won against Peru.

Bellmont optional gymnastics team finished the year with an overall record of 7-2.

They won the sectional and placed second in the regional.

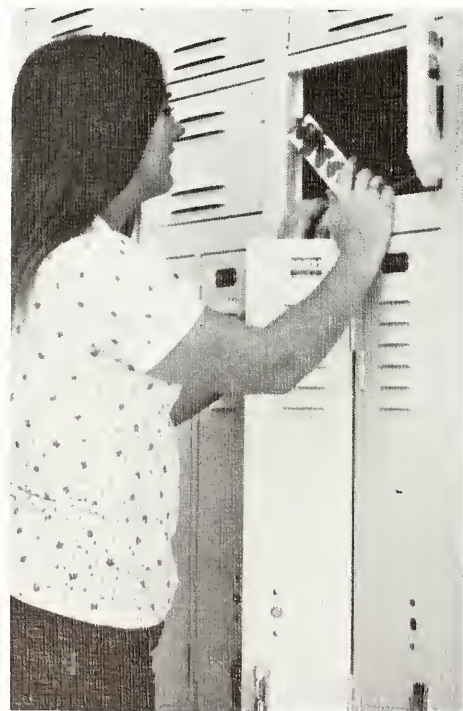

Juniors Nan Mankey and Valerie Painter won honors. Nan was first in all-around free exercise and beam in the sectional; she then went on to be first in Free Exercise at the regional.

The beginning compulsory team had 3 and 1 record. They also placed first in the sectional.

Right: Competing at a Speech meet at DeKalb, Bobbie Bollinger, senior, recites from "Spoon River Anthology."

Organizational members became involved second semester by participating in their clubs' activities.

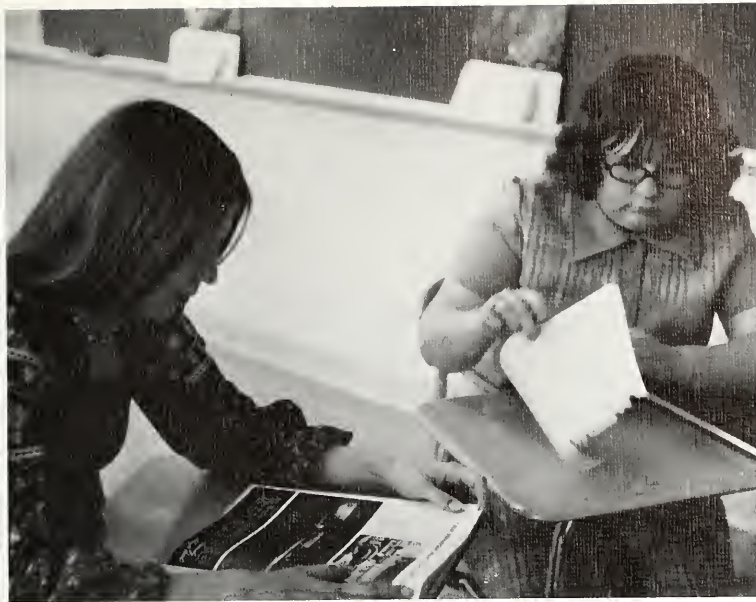

'Involvement is the essence of fun.'

stated Laurie DeLong, senior.

The Band played for wrestling matches, while the Speech Team traveled to competition throughout the area. Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) met to plan for the May Retreat. The Sunshine Society sponsored a candy sale to finance a banquet in March.

Left: Planning for the journalism banquet in April are Janis Watts and Jean Spangler, seniors. Quill and Scroll sponsors the banquet annually.

Below: Completing the school song, the Cheerleaders attempt a mount.

Concentrating on special interests, clubs spent the winter months raising money, having holiday parties and presenting programs to members and the student body.

Concert Choir and Brave Generation combined with Cadet Choir to produce the annual Christmas program. Brave Generation placed first in the state NISBOVA contest while soloists Mary Rhynard and Gary Reed, juniors, gained top honors, too.

"Getting a first at the NISBOVA contest was a shock because I had psyched myself up to get a second."

'Those long hours of practice really did pay off,' said junior Mary Rhynard, Choir member.

Cooperating with the Elks Lodge, Student Council selected two nominees each month for "Youths of the Month." Those chosen from the county by a special Elks committee became candidates for the "Youth of the Year" contest in the spring.

Right: Second year letterman Eric Mendez won his weight class to place first in the NEIC meet. Mendez compiled a 13 win, 2 loss record and has two more years to go.

Below right: Victor Beer, junior along with placing first in NEIC also won the sectional and had a final record of 21 wins with only 2 losses.

Below: Wrestling in the 155 weight class for the Braves was junior Harry Rumschlag. Rumschlag coming from a big wrestling family was no surprise to place first from a big wrestling family was no surprise to place first in NEIC completion.

Right: Junior heavyweight Dave DeLong posted a 20-win 4 loss record this season. Along with winning the NEIC, Dave placed first in Belmont's Sectional.

Above right: Dave O'Campo, junior, became the second Belmont wrestler to go to the state meet. In addition to getting a first at the NEIC meet, Dave won Sectional and Regional and ended the year with a 19-2 record.

Above: Senior Pat Briede with a conference title under his belt became the third wrestler to go to the Regional and advance to the state meet.

Nine selected to NEIC elite

Bellmont High is a member in one of the premier conferences in the state of Indiana. Along with nine other schools in this area form together to make up the Northeastern Indiana Athletic Conference (NEIC).

Bellmont found itself placing a large number of its athletes on all-conference teams this year.

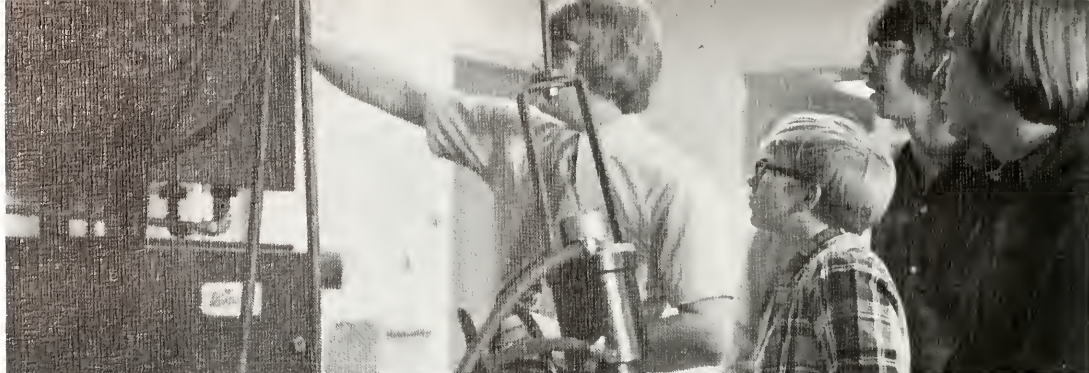

Top: The coaches of the NEIC basketball teams selected senior John Schauss to the NEIC first team as a guard. Schauss also was named to the all-sectional team.

Left: Junior Luke Leitz, was the only Brave to make the NEIC team in football this year. Leitz was selected as a place kicker.

Above: Bellmont ace hurler Ron Puteet was named to the NEIC in his junior year with the young Braves.

Right: Ron Butcher and Jim Friedt, juniors, construct a canoe. "We try to incorporate industrial methods in class," stated Mr. Louis Hatke, woods and plastics teacher. Wooden gunnels were tried this year, also.

Top: Mr. Galen McMichael, metals teacher, shows Marlin Scheumann, sophomore, Doug Singleton, senior, and Jeff Sheets, junior, the operating facts of the spot welder.

"Shortages in materials have hit even on our level. We are presently experiencing problems in obtaining materials for reasonable prices," stated Mr. Louis Hatke, woods and plastics teacher.

'Canoe prices rising.'

The making of 'mini-barns' was another project to suffer because of shortages. Only six classes will make the two barns, he noted.

'It don't never pay to bluff a rattlesnake,

said Opal Kronkie, portrayed by Mary Rhynard, to the honorable Mayor Hector Bissell, played by Paul Schultz. Opal, with the help of her friends, destroys the mayor's chances for re-election when she decides to run against him.

The laugh-filled "Opal Is A Diamond", directed by Miss Claryn Birk, was timely in its treatment of political values when compared to the Watergate controversy.

After accidentally burning her petitions, Opal outsmarts the mayor by demanding her friends be re-instated in their municipal jobs to keep an eye on the mayor, and Opal returns to the life of the common man.

Right: Opal (Mary Rhynard) holds up Oscar, the dead chicken as Mayor Bissell (Paul Schultz) looks startled.

Going to school half a day and working the other half is part of the lives of DE, ICT, or COE students.

'The programs should have carry over for life-time jobs,' explained Mr. Joseph Stanley, DE sponsor.

The work-study programs are also designed to help students find jobs they will like and earn money while still in high school. Working in offices, factories, places of public service, banks, or department stores are the jobs carried out by the students on the vocational programs.

Swimmers this year finished with the first winning season in the history of the school. The tank-men swam in fourteen meets and finished with a record of eight wins and six losses.

According to second year coach, Mark Young,

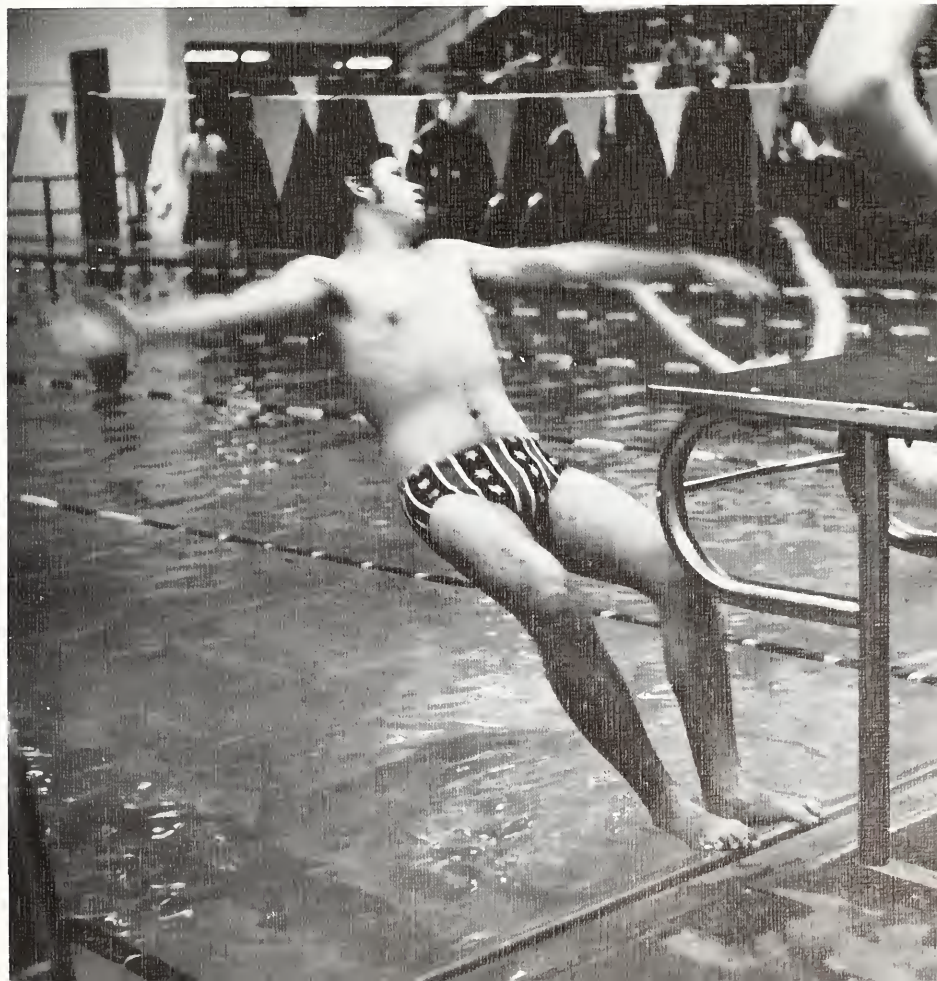

'The last two victories over Warsaw and Blackford proved to be the highlights.'

Coach Young continued," . . . The team became a unit working together to establish a goal—victory and a winning season."

Tom Sheets, senior co-captain, said he expected a winning season. "In fact, I expected a better season than we had." The team had three senior co-captains: Tom Gaunt, Greg Mankey, and Sheets. Chris DesJean, junior one meter diver, finished undefeated, and fell six points short of going to the state.

Sending three to the regional highlighted the track season this year. Jay Arnold, Randy Hower, seniors, and Steve Miller, junior, made the trip to the Fort Wayne Regional. In the regional, Arnold set a school record in the discus with a heave of 134 feet 3½ inches. Two other records were set during the season: Randy Hower in the long jump with 20 feet 4 inches, and Tim Grote with 2:04.1 minutes in the 880.

The varsity under first year coach Lou Hatke finished with 5 wins and 6 losses.

'I feel the boys were too inconsistent this year,' stated Hatke about the fortunes of the team. Assisting Hatke during the season were other head coaches Gary Miller and Mark Young. The reserves finished with a record of 6 wins and 2 losses. The cindermen finished last in a field of ten in the conference meet. DeKalb won the title.

For the first time in Belmont history the girls track team had a woman coach.

Five girls qualified for the Sectional at Blackford in which Barb Fuelling in the 80 yd. hurdles placed 6th, and Marlene Mesing in the 220 yd. dash finished 4th. Sarah Tieman in the 100 yd. dash, and Betsy Roop in the relays also represented Belmont in the Sectional.

The girls track team finished the season with 2 wins and 4 losses.

Mrs. Julia Grogg said she felt the girls enjoyed the chance to compete as a team even though,

'Competition is more on an individual basis.'

State and local government was a new nine week course required of all seniors. However, next year the course requirement will be dropped.

Mr. Ronald Bittner, social studies department head, explained that the seniors would not have to take this course next year because experience has taught him that academically oriented students would rather 'spend their time in a harder class.'

Therefore, next year's seniors will simply elect two government mini-courses and two mini-courses from either sociology, psychology, or economics.

New equipment helped enrich learning experiences. The fine arts department acquired a complete set of marching and concert drums plus an electric bass guitar and an electric rhythm guitar. Also, the business education department received 16 new IBM typewriters.

"To offer a wide range of girls sports so that my students will find some satisfaction, develop interest, and skills in the sports area" is the purpose of the diversified physical education program, according to Mrs. Barbara Baker, teacher.

'More sports, more interest,' stated Mrs. Phyllis Hebble, physical education teacher. "Some phase of most activities will carry over after school."

"Regardless of whether or not classroom activities are carried over, at least students have been exposed to numerous sports," Mrs. Baker said.

Having tried flag football for the first time this year, Mrs. Hebble felt, "I was impressed with the girls' ability to play flag football."

Playing to a standing room only crowd, the Band, Choir, Brave Generation, and Bravettes presented "Those Were the Days" featuring hit songs from the "Roaring Twenties", "Thrifty Thirties", "Flirty Forties", "Fabulous Fifties", "Swinging Sixties", and "Sounds of the Seventies".

The annual Pops Concert was also the last to be directed by Miss Helen Haubold who announced her retirement this year and paid tribute to all the performers by pointing out that,

'The kids did a super job.'

Each year the concert combines the efforts of several departments. For instance, Eric Butler, junior, designed the set, and senior Mary Boltz drew the cover for the programs.

The programs were printed by the journalism and printing classes. The home economics department was in charge of costumes. Much of the lighting was handled by Sean Reed, junior. Lori Lobsiger, senior, did most of the choreography.

Finishing the season with a mark of 15 wins and three losses, the golf team then advanced to the Regional. The Braves fired a 305 in the Sectional to tie with Marion for second position. Because the Giants had a better fifth man score, Marion gained the second place finish out of the field of 22 teams.

Captain Luke Leitz and Jeff Sheets shot a 75 on the par 71 Bluffton course to tie for medalist for the Braves. Manchester replaced the Braves for the Sectional crown. The linksmen finished sixth in the conference. Concordia, by virtue of a fifth man score, was declared the NEIC champion.

Bellmont took third in the Bi-County meet on a score-card error that cost the Braves that title. In the Lake Central invitational the Braves finished tenth out of some of the state's top twenty teams.

'Tying with Marion in the sectional and advancing to the Regional'

was the success of the team stated senior Rick Heimann. Heimann was one of only two seniors on the squad this season. The other was Pat Kuhnle who missed almost all of the season with a broken wrist.

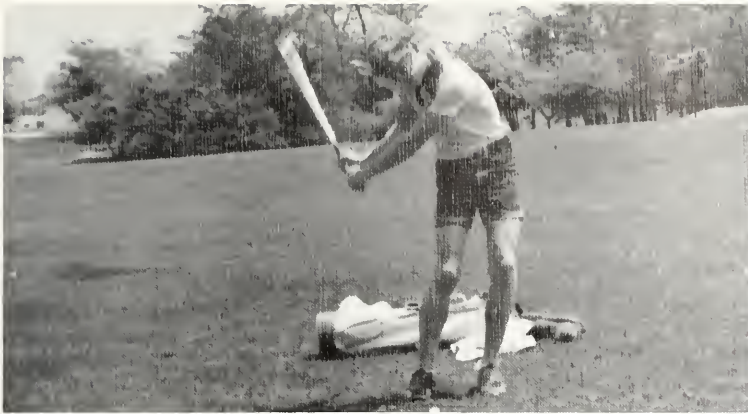

According to head coach Alan Kalver, "Shooting 305 in the sectional" was the biggest accomplishment. The reserve team finished with a record of 5-8.

Chosen on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership, and service, 10 seniors and 26 juniors were formally inducted into National Honor Society April 2.

The students became eligible for NHS membership by maintaining a 9.5 (B to B+) scholastic average. Mr. Dennis Gaerte, sponsor, then asked teachers to rate the students they knew "reasonably well" on character, leadership, and service. The students also completed an activity form.

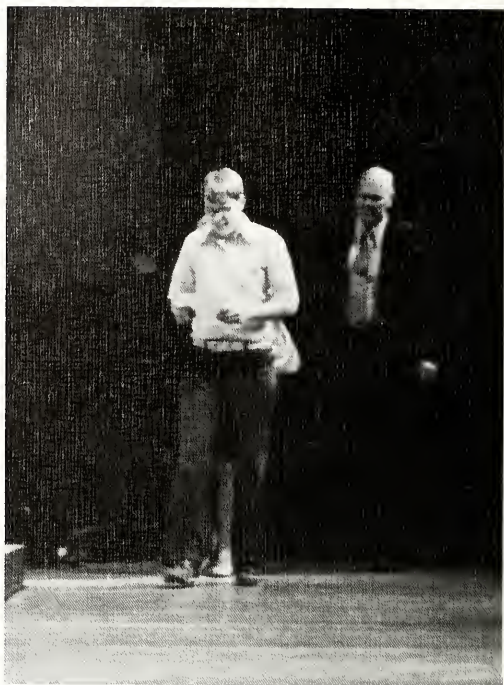

Mr. Gaerte stated, "I feel more comfortable with the way candidates were selected this year. People shouldn't have to look at the records to find out if a student belongs to National Honor Society."

'Honor students should make things happen, not let them.'

Speech Team member Mary Rhynard, junior, placed ninth in drama at the National Forensic League state speech meet in March.

'It took a lot of us --- 30 - 40 people working right up to the last minute to make the Prom successful," explained Mike Hoopingartner, junior class president, as he credited his classmates for their work on invitations, decorations, refreshments, and program.

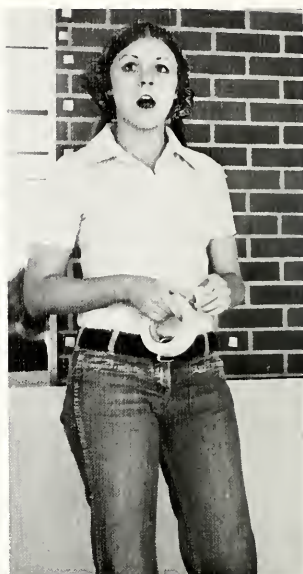

Butterflies, mushrooms, ivy paper, and flowered walls created a garden atmosphere for the May 17 Prom that had as its theme "Summer Breeze".

Juniors and seniors received invitations printed on pink parchment paper. At the Prom they were served cake, pink punch, sandwiches, and nuts; then they dined at butterfly and candle adorned tables.

Couples danced to Gass, Food, and Lodging and the Brave Generation entertained during intermission. Photographs were taken at a gazebo laced with flowers.

Fielding one of the youngest teams ever in Bellmonts' history found the Braves' record at 13 wins and 13 losses.

With the aid of a new batting machine this season, coaches Bob Pilkington and Gary Busse skyrocketed their teams batting averages from that of years past.

Ron Oetting, one of the seniors, along with Kim Schamerloh commented,

'Having such a young team this year guarantees a super season next year.'

The Junior Braves, headed by John Cate, posted a 3 win, 3 loss season.

"Band and choir programs, library passes, tickets and programs for plays, and athletic programs were mainly what printing students did this year," stated Mr. Galen McMichael, printing teacher.

'Students do not realize what they have,' said Miss Jennifer Wilson, math teacher, about graphs and math information printed on desk tops in the math rooms.

"They've had health since the third grade, so we have to keep their attention," stated Mr. Larry Ritter. Two or three boys present each chapter, and two movies are interjected to break the routine of the class each week.

German students were treated to guest speakers: Mrs. Carola Stoner, a German nurse who met Hitler, and Mr. Walter Fink, stationed in Germany during World War II.

In the midst of a beautiful afternoon, 226 seniors departed the halls of Belmont High School forever as students. The finish of twelve years of public education came when school board president Francis Geimer said,

*'With the power
appointed to me I now pronounce you graduated.'*

Sighs of relief came from the newly graduated class and from the near capacity crowd. The class of 1974 became the first class to have spent all of their four years in the beauty of the Belmont Park. Another first was that this was the first time that the baccalaureate and commencement were together.

Forest Green gowns were the color this year with the girls receiving a mint green collar. A white rose, which was the class flower, was presented to the graduating girls by the officers of the junior class.

Left: Using the senior class motto "The dawn hath brought us thus far, where will the sunset find us?" for the theme of her speech, class valedictorian Ruth Thieme said, "We are here at this ceremony today; this is where the dawn has brought us. Now only you can choose where the sunset will find you."

Above: Class salutatorian, Greg Mankey, admonishes his classmates, "Seniors, when we leave Belmont today we will be taking a lot of things with us: friendships, good times, and a diploma. But, in my opinion the most important thing we will leave here today are the fond memories of our four years at Belmont High School."

Far Left: Flanked by a basket of white chrysanthemums, Sharon Beihold, Terry Fuelling, and Joe Garner look on with mixed emotions as others receive their diplomas.

Shortages and the energy crisis of 1974 didn't apply to the Legend staff. Seventeen persons with fresh ideas expressed them through copy, cutlines, and pictures to make the Legend happen.

Explained Teresa Fuelling, girls sports editor,

'When people look at our book I want to hear them say it is the very best.'

New features made the book more personal and easier to read. These features included quotes in the headlines, the outlining of advertisements in black, the use of more space between cutlines, and the addition of a girls sports editor to cover the increasing number of girls sports.

Right: Spellbound by the first glimpse of the 1973 Legend are seniors Janis Watts, Jo Wade, Jean Spangler, Teresa Fuelling, and Miss Carolyn Jackson, adviser.

Teachers:

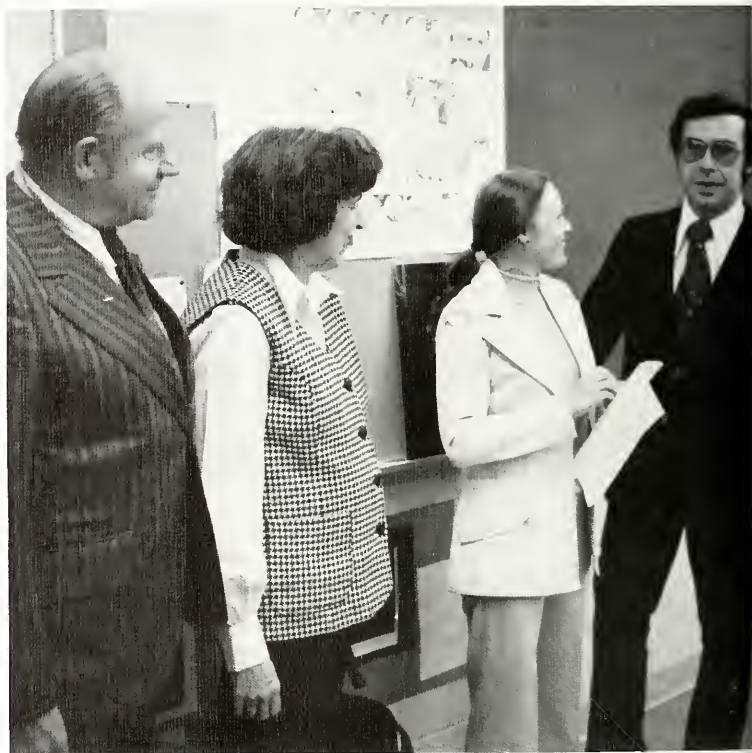

'Why do some students insist that school is always boring to them?'

"School tends to be boring to students because:

- 1) Their inability to see the need for mental training.
- 2) Routine of daily activity.
- 3) Lack of parental encouragement and guidance.
- 4) Prevailing attitude of general public that schools are just a regulated place for their children to be until they are old enough to leave home and go to work."

stated Mr. Brice Smith, math teacher.

Right: During National Education Week, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vander Hart talk with English teachers Mrs. Peggy Sprague and Mr. Tom Kaough. The purpose of open house was to unite teachers and parents in the common goal of better education. Belmont teachers were in charge of the event.

DENNIS E. GAERTE—German II, III, IV . . . AB, Indiana University . . . German Club, National Honor Society sponsor, building representative for NATA, elementary coach . . . ("What were the most memorable highlights of your trip to Germany?") "To pick out only a few highlights would be hard. Just seeing so many things you've heard about was impressive. To see and touch such "things" as Big Ben, the English Channel, and the Alps, to name a few, was quite an experience. It's an experience I wish everyone could enjoy."

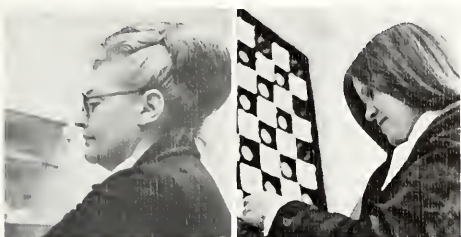

ROSIE GASE—teachers aide . . . "I took the job to fill my time and I enjoy working with kids of all ages."

MARLENE GAUSE—Home Economics I, III . . . BS, Indiana University . . . "The strangest thing that happened was finding two spoons and a splintered knife down the garbage disposal."

'I wish the '74 graduates the best of luck---you, too, Shelley!'

mentioned Mrs. Donna Roth, school secretary

CATHERINE GRABILL—school nurse . . . RN, Ball Memorial Hospital . . . "If the kids wonder why I am tight with aspirins and band-aids, it's because I supply the whole corporation. This year it took 3,000 aspirins and 4,000 band-aids."

JULIA GROGG—rugmaking, basic crafts, Weaving I, II, Sculpture I . . . BS, Indiana University . . . Sophomore class sponsor . . . Girls track coach . . . "The mini-courses have given our art department an opportunity to offer a more varied range of courses than were previously possible."

AL HARANTS—biology, physical education . . . AB, Franklin College; MA, Ball State University . . . head football coach Junior high wrestling coach . . . "The biggest drawback of teaching a required class like biology is that students really don't want to take required classes."

LOUIS HATKE—Woods and Plastics I, II . . . BS, Indiana State University; MS, University of Cincinnati . . . Freshman football coach . . . Varsity track coach . . . Freshman class sponsor . . . "I was proud of the freshmen and their float which placed third at Homecoming."

HELEN HAUBOLD—freshman chorus, concert choir cadet choir . . . BS, Indiana University . . . director of Brave Generation . . . "My last year at Belmont was the best. The classes accomplished so much not only at State Auditions but for the Pops Concert. I am looking forward to my retirement."

DENNIS HAYS—Drafting I, II, architecture . . . BS, Ball State University . . . assistant football coach . . . assistant wrestling coach . . . Sophomore class sponsor . . . LARRY G. SHAFFER—Marching, concert, stage, and pep bands; brass and clarinet choirs . . . AB, Ball State University . . . "The success of the Pops Concert was mainly due to the fact that the music was appreciated by the audiences, and the kids enjoyed the music they played."

ROBERT SHOEMAKER—Biology I, household and environmental chemistry, horticulture and landscaping . . . BS, Purdue University; MS, Kansas State Teachers College . . . "Each student needs to be aware that he is expected to take care of himself. Knowing what to do at any given time may make the difference between success and failure."
ELIZABETH SINGLETON—Secretary-treasurer . . . the voice of Ballmont . . . "Buenos tardes estudiantes."

BRICE B. SMITH—Geometry, Algebra II . . . AB, Indiana University . . . "School tends to be boring to students because of their inability to see the need for mental training."
ELBERT A. SMITH, JR.—Teenagers in conflict, mystery and suspense, just for boys, Bible as literature . . . AB, Centre College; M. Div., Louisville Presbyterian Seminary; MA, Indiana University . . . "I had no trouble with my Bible literature class because I kept an open mind and the kids spoke freely of their beliefs."

CHUCK SAYS

Above: Adding a little sectional spirit to the math classroom is Mr. Charles Swales. His first period college algebra class made the sign for him. Several teachers permitted the decorations to build school spirit to a fever pitch for Sectional.

'Next year instead of working I plan to be a bored housewife,' explained Mrs. Carolyn Meyer, teachers aide.

MARGARET SPRAGUE—Basic grammar, basic composition, short story, mystery and suspense, minorities in literature . . . AB, Hillsdale College; MS, St. Francis College . . . Senior class sponsor . . . "The '74 class was a delight to work with because they were so cooperative and helpful."

WINIFRED SPAULDING—Librarian . . . AB, Indiana University . . . "As school librarian I supervise the students, assist pupils in research work, tabulate the circulation of books, along with many other duties."

EUGENE SPRUNGER—Biology I, agriculture, animal production . . . BS, MS, Purdue University . . . "In animal production we were able to go to Gerbers to examine the different cuts of meat for the field trip."

JOSEPH R. STANLEY—Job interviews and applications, record keeping, money and banking, management, real estate and taxes, insurance, distributive education . . . BS, Huntington College; MS, St. Francis College . . . DE sponsor, business education department head . . . "I am the producer-director of the Miss Midwestern Indiana Pageant and spend much of my time being the field director for the state."

MARY STRICKLER—Science fiction, short story, just for girls, writing workshop and reading techniques, poetry, grammar review . . . AB, MS, Indiana University . . . "I prefer teaching English especially since I have a chance to indulge in one of my favorites, science fiction."

RICK STUCKY—Office procedures, Typing I, cooperative office training . . . BS, Huntington College; MA, Ball State University . . . NATA executive board member, OEA club . . . "I've never had any trouble with my COE students because they are very well screened before entering an office."

CHARLES L. SWALES—Trigonometry, calculus, introduction to algebra . . . MS, Ball State University.

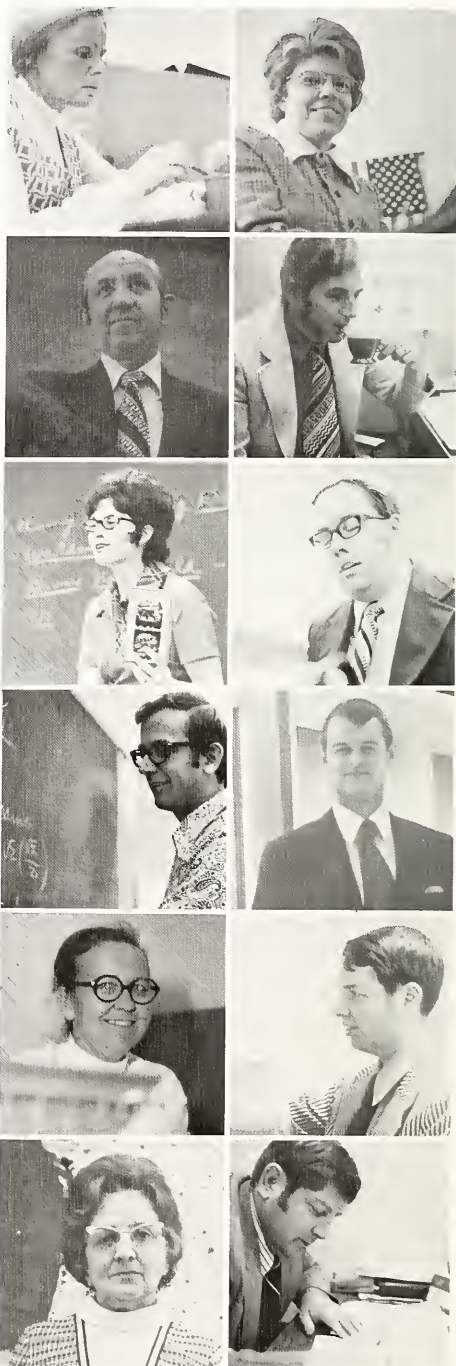

SAMUEL H. TAYLOR—U.S. history . . . BS, Huntington; MA, Ball State University . . . Phi Alpha Theta, National History Honorary Society . . . Rifle club assistant coach . . . "I enjoy fishing, hunting, drag racing, hiking, swimming, and biking."

BETTY TERVEER—Guidance secretary . . . "The mini-courses have created a problem in filing the permanent records."

THOMAS TORSON—Astronomy I, II, physics . . . AB, Earlham College; MS, Purdue University . . . Audio-visual . . . (What does your job as head of audio-visual include?) "Head-aches; projectors that break down only while I'm in class; the after school scavenger hunt for equipment borrowed by teachers who fail to sign it out and trying to provide eight movie projectors for eight individual teachers at the same time when only seven projectors are available and trying to keep cool through it all."

CHARLOTTE VERA—French I, II, III, IV . . . AB, Indiana University . . . Sponsor of French Club . . . "My hobbies are swimming, boating, traveling, knitting, reading, and jig-saw puzzles of famous paintings."

FRANK WELLMAN—Algebra I, geometry, introduction to algebra . . . BS, MA, Ball State University . . . Canteen sponsor . . . (What bothers you most about teaching drivers education?) "Students who do not realize that one mistake can cost them their life or somebody elses."

I have no regrets; just memories of people and something I believed in,'

Because of you journalism students, nine years of teaching have not been wasted. You are a special breed. You want to produce professional publications; yet, you are just learning. You have jobs after school. You are in other activities. You have other classes.

You are a team. But there is no applause for you; no accolades. Your season is all year. In an athletic contest, a team will make mistakes, but all is forgiven when the game is won. Your mistakes are in print, and no one grants you a winning season.

Your reward is a personal one: seeing something through from beginning to end, searching for the exact word, finding the facts, applying layout psychological devices, and learning about subjects you never knew existed. You have commitment.

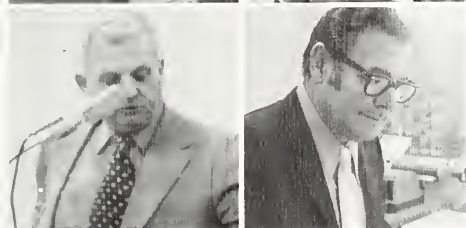

revealed Miss Carolyn Jackson, journalism teacher.

Left: Wishing, walking, and wondering with worry is Mrs. Margaret Sprague, senior class sponsor, waiting in the woods room for the class members to finish their signs for sectional.

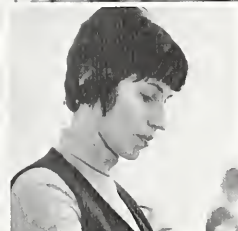

FRANK WHITACRE—Metal Tech. I, II . . . BS, MA, Ball State University . . . Industrial arts chairman . . . "I enjoy fishing and hunting as well as golf."

REBECCA WORTHMAN—Guidance counselor . . . AB, Ball State University; MA, MS, St. Francis College . . . "The Worthman scholarship banquet left me speechless and for me that's something."

ROBERT WORTHMAN—Athletic director . . . BS, Ball State University; MA, Indiana University.

HUBERT ZERKEL—Principal . . . AB, Eritham College; MA, Ball State University . . . "We have a new policy of permitting the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes to assemble to take care of class business when the need so dictates."

MARVEL ZUERCHER—Librarian . . . AB, Huntington College; MS, Ball State University.

SANDY MCNEIL

'What will you miss most after you graduate from high school?'

"Some of the people and the security of a small town and a small school where you know everyone and can depend on them."

—Kathy Knudsen

"Having fun: throwing erasers, putting tacks on seats, and I'll miss all those good ole teachers. But most of all, I will miss the rest of the '74 class. I even felt bad when the '72 and '73 classes left Belmont High School."

—Terry Miller

"I will just miss being here. You lose contact with most of your friends, and you just won't see them anymore."

—Randy Moellering

"I'll miss skipping classes and baking pies for Mr. Elder. And I'll miss playing my harmonica in the bathroom."

Below left: Angie Irwin adjusts her hat in order to look "perfect" for senior dress down day.

Left: Examining the results of a pre-school incident are Dianne Blume and Jan Voirol.

'What will you miss most after you graduate from high school?'

"The thing I will miss most after I graduate is the good times of goofing off and horsing around with my friends during school and between classes."

—Kim Stucky

"I'll miss the gang and the parties—and I'll really miss Mr. Boyle and Mr. Bittner."

—Anamaria Miller

... all the activities that brought the whole school together."

—Rick Heimann

"I'll miss Mr. Bittner's cute dimples and his cowboy boots."

—Toni Mahlan

"Certainly I'll miss Mr. Elder and his white, snazzy shoes, the voice of Belmont, and the long 55 minute periods."

—Sharon Beihold

"I'll miss Miss Haubold and Brave Generation and Mrs. Schauss' always telling us things she 'shouldn't tell us'. I'll also miss the chocolate eclairs because my mom never buys them."

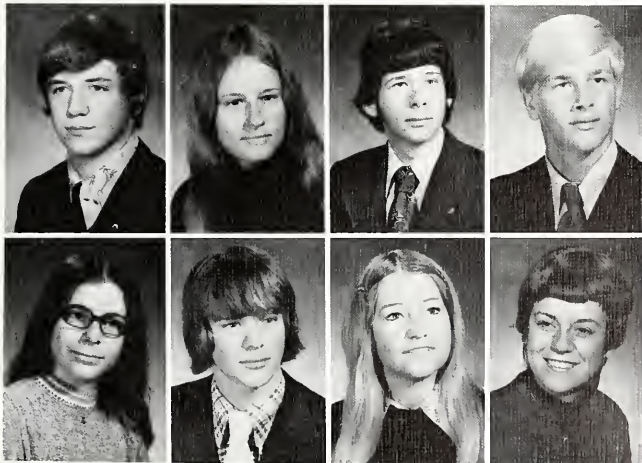

—Joan Langston

"The highlight of my senior year was graduating. No more tests, pop quizzes, homework, and grumpy teachers."

—Greta Sonner

"I'll remember keeping the first place trophy after marching in the Berne Halloween parade."

—Judy Hamrick

Juniors:

'What can you do as a junior that you couldn't in previous years?'

"As a junior I am allowed to take boys home economics which is a course for junior and senior boys. Until this time I was not allowed to take this course for some unobvious reason that the administration had thought up."

Glenn Watts

"When you are a junior you are included in more activities; you get to know the teachers better and are therefore able to get out of class frequently."

Julie Fuhrman

"There are more opportunities to get involved; you can pursue any interest."

Sophomores:

'What do you think of the new mini-courses?'

"I like changing classes every nine weeks because I get to know more kids."

—Mary Girard

"I enjoy mini courses because they are not that long."

—Dave Langston

"The only thing wrong is that I had too much to read for the short time."

—Curt Rash

"Mini-courses are good since they are short, but if they think they are teaching us something, they're crazy."

Freshmen:

'Do you like being in courses with upperclassmen?'

"We should have the older students in our classes so we can get to know them and vice versa."

—Jill Bogner

"I'd rather be with the juniors and seniors so they will not put me down later."

—Dot Eichorn

"Getting to know the older kids is fun, but many times the teachers expect too much from the underclassmen."

—Mike Carll

"Not really, because the upperclassmen seem to get away with murder and put the freshmen down."

—Karla McBarnes

Bottom right: Kendel Krueckeberg, Vickie Zeser, Becky Bultemeyer, and Julie Jackson were elected cheerleaders. The student body selected eight; then the teachers narrowed it to four.

Freshmen:

'If you could change the school system, what would you do?

"I think we should be able to go outside during lunch and walk around."

—Jack Walker

"They should have more activities like dances or carnivals not only to keep students occupied but also to raise money for future affairs."

—Sheryl Price

"The scheduling system has something to be desired. It would be nice to take the classes you signed up for."

—Dicky McBride

"Girls sports should have as much if not more priority than the guys sports."

—Betsy Roop

Right: Disgusted Steve Hammond throws in his cards as Mark Gerber chalks up another point in euchre with the help of partner Dave O'Dell. John Mankey rakes in the cards determined to stack the deck in his favor for the next round during Romper Room.

Appreciation

We Can Make it Happen, and we did. The Legend staff intermingled sighs of relief, joy, and sadness as they completed the memories of the 1973-74 school year.

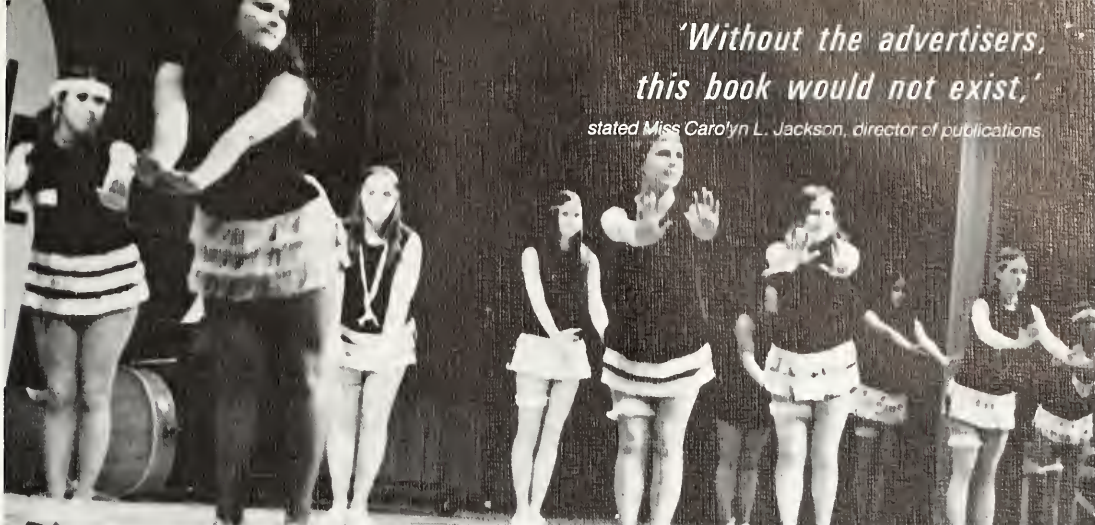

As editor-in-chief, I would like to extend sincere thanks to Rich Mahan for helping with the color pictures for Silver Arrow, and to Joe Hammond for the cover picture. Thanks to two staff members, first Kris Helm for her long hours of help with proofing and also Pat Kuhnle for the last minute prints.

We would like to personally thank our understanding adviser, Miss Carolyn Jackson, for her long, tiresome, but patient hours with us in D-118. The staff wouldn't have made it through the year without her fine examples and teaching us true dedication.

Auditorium damage: ceiling over stage was damaged; curtain needs to be replaced; resanding or replacement of stage; carpet in orchestra pit and front of auditorium may be replaced because of stains.

Unit C: wall above lockers has to be replaced plus the carpet in eight rooms and the offices.

Unit D: replacement of carpet in four classrooms; vinyl covering of walls of teachers office needs to be replaced.

Gym: 100 square feet of the floor must be relaid. Superintendent of Schools Gail M. Grabill said, "Hopefully the repairs will be made by the time school starts next fall."

Above: Tears come to Queen Rhonda Miller's eyes as friends applaud her coronation as Silver Arrow Queen.

'It was a dream come true and the greatest honor of my high school years.'

scribed Rhonda Miller, Silver Arrow Queen

Crowned at half-time of the Belmont-Heritage basketball game, was Queen Rhonda Miller. Serving the queen as her court were Shelley Roth and Marge Braun, attended by Cindy Case and Julie Fuhrman.

The AC—Belmont Homecoming clash was climaxed by the half-time crowning of Robert Cuellar and Bonnie Koeneman. Patty Mendez, freshman; Karen Scheumann, sophomore; and Beth Abbott, junior, were attendants. Their court was Cindy Kiess, Linda Lehrman, Joe Serna, and Don Massonne.

We Can Make It Happen

It has happened—graduated and scared as hell—we have to face the enormous world and take time to really think on our own.

It was the year of the Watergate scandal, President Nixon brushing aside pleas to resign (he declared that he will "stand and fight") to preserve the office of the Presidency), and the Vice President of the United States resigned.

But with all the negative thoughts hanging gloomily in the air, it is a time for positive action—for the power of a million new ideas. There are people who yearn to be heard and to be understood.

With the limitations of a year filled with shortages—meat, gas, paper, etc.—somehow a new humorous fad, streaking, seemed to lighten frustrations, and the "hurry up" world slowed down somewhat when the new 55 mile per hour speed limit went into effect.

At Belmont, the new computer system brought new problems, but it worked and we made it through the year. We even pulled through and won the basketball sectional with the help of the students and the backing of all the fans.

This year showed that we can make a difference. We can make it work now. We can make it happen. (YEAH) We Can Make It Happen."

(1) E.L. Cuellar and Bonnie Koeneman, seniors, realize the dreams of many students when they are crowned Homecoming king and queen.

(2) Checking out the scoreboard before he wrestles in the next period, Dave Gilbert, freshman, believes he can pin his opponent.

(3) While cleaning out his locker on the last day of school, John Mendez, sophomore, dumps a friend into the waste paper basket.

(4) Getting those last minute adjustments made and sadly saying goodbye, Greg Coyne and Angie Irwin quickly get in line for graduation.
